

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A bearing or sleeve installing device includes a bar and a first bolt and two second bolts threadedly extend through the bar. A carrying member with a bearing or a sleeve mounted thereto. The carrying member has a 5 threaded hole and the first bolt extends through a hole in an object and is threadedly connected to the threaded hole in the carrying member. The bar contacts the object, the carrying member moves into the hole in the object when rotating the first bolt so as to install the bearing or sleeve in the hole of the object.